

Safety, Security and Fire Safety Annual Information Report 2009-2010

A Message from the Director of Public Safety

A major urban university campus is an integral part of the city in which it is located. The students, faculty and staff play a vital role in helping shape the character of the community.

While Boston presents unlimited opportunities to experience the advantages of life in a world class city, we must keep in mind that the potential for crime does exist. Each of us must assume a personal responsibility by taking precautions to prevent ourselves from becoming a victim.

The men and women of the Northeastern University Public Safety Division are dedicated to the principles of Community Policing and to the goal of maintaining the campus as a safe and pleasant place in which to live, work and study. However, a truly safe campus can only be achieved through the cooperation of all students, faculty and staff.

The information provided in this pamphlet is designed to inform, advise and alert the campus community of the current programs, policies and procedures related to crime awareness and reporting at Northeastern University.

D. Joseph Griffin
Director

This information is being provided to you as part of Northeastern University's commitment to safety and security on campus and is in compliance with the requirements of the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act.

Reporting Crimes and Emergencies

The Public Safety Division provides a comprehensive program of police, security, crime prevention, fire safety, emergency medical, parking and related public safety services to help ensure that the University community remains a safe and pleasant place in which to study, live and work.

Members of the Northeastern University community are encouraged to report crimes, suspicious activity or other emergencies to the Public Safety Division immediately. The Division's Headquarters is located at Columbus Place (716 Columbus Avenue) and can be contacted by calling 617.373.2121. To report emergencies of Police, Fire, or Medical nature, the number is 617.373.3333. The TTY numbers for hearing impaired persons is 617.373.3934. Calls are answered 24-hours a day every day by full-time trained Communications Offices at the Division's modern Police Operations Center. Campus Assistance telephones identified by a blue light are located throughout the campus and can be used to report crimes or other types of emergencies or to call any on-campus extension.

The Division maintains direct telephone contact with the Boston Police and Fire Departments, ensuring prompt assistance and support from these agencies when needed.

Access to Campus Facilities

Most campus buildings and facilities, other than student residence halls, are accessible to members of the campus community, their guests and visitors during normal hours of business, and during designated hours on weekends and holidays, depending on the wide variety of events and activities taking place outside the normal business hours.

Doors to residence halls remain locked 24 hours a day. Proctors monitor access at most residence halls and access is permitted to residents upon presentation of a valid student ID card. Residence is verified by an electronic access control system. Guests and visitors must present a photo ID to the Proctor and be signed in by their host.

Residence halls are equipped with intrusion alarms on exterior doors as well as alarms to detect doors which have been propped open. These alarms are monitored at the Public Safety Division Police Operations Center and University Police are dispatched to investigate each alarm.

The University provides housing for some students through agreements with realty management firms for spaces in buildings not managed by Northeastern University. These facilities follow security and fire codes in accordance with the City of Boston regulations.

Maintenance and Security of Campus Grounds and Facilities

The University maintains a very strong commitment to campus safety and security. Exterior lighting is an important part of this commitment. Parking areas, pedestrian walkways and building exteriors are well lighted. Surveys of exterior lighting on campus are conducted by officers of the Public Safety Division on a regular basis and the physical plant department gives high priority to maintenance of exterior lights which need replacement. Members of the campus community are encouraged to report any exterior lighting deficiencies to the Public Safety Division or Facilities Department.

Public Safety Division officers lock the exterior doors on campus buildings following the last class each evening. Door and locking hardware deficiencies are reported by these officers upon discovery. Shrubbery and trees on campus are trimmed on a regular basis.

Campus streets, parking areas, grounds and buildings are patrolled 24 hours a day every day of the year by University Police Officers, Community Services Officers and co-operative education students employed as Police Cadets. Patrols of residence halls include the perimeter as well as lobbies, cafeterias and basements. Contract security officers supplement the Public Safety Division officers, providing a visible deterrent to crime and serving as additional “eyes and ears” for the University Police.

Law Enforcement Authority and Interagency Relationships

University police officers are commissioned in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 22C section 63 of the Massachusetts General Laws and have full law enforcement authority in and upon all property owned, occupied or used by the University.

The Division recognizes its responsibility to provide crime prevention and emergency police services to members of the Northeastern community while they are in the immediate campus neighborhood, as well as when they are on official campus property. To that end, University police officers also hold commissions as Deputy Sheriffs in Suffolk County, providing them with the authority to exercise police duties on the public streets and other areas of the city contiguous to the campus. Full-time Community Justice employed as co-operative education Police Cadets supplement the full-time professional police officers, bringing the total number of police and security staff to over seventy men and women.

All newly appointed University Police Officers are graduates of a police academy conducted or sanctioned by the Massachusetts State Police or Massachusetts Criminal Justice Training Council. Recruit training academies consist of several months of full-time, in-depth training in all aspects of police operations and are followed by several weeks of field training under the close supervision of a Field Training Officer. Annual in-service refresher training is provided to all officers, and officers are also frequently assigned to attend in-depth training in a wide variety of specialized topics such as crime prevention theory and the investigation of sexual assaults and bias-motivated crime, as well as other subjects which enhance the ability of the Division to provide comprehensive public safety services.

The Public Safety Division maintains a close working relationship with the Boston Police Department, state and federal law enforcement agencies and all appropriate elements of the criminal justice system. Crime related reports and statistics are routinely exchanged.

The Command and Supervisory staffs of the Division are encouraged to participate actively in professional associations which foster increased proficiency in their areas of responsibility. Members of the staff maintain active membership as well as leadership positions in the International Association of Campus Law Enforcement Administrators, the Massachusetts Chiefs of Police Association, the Massachusetts Police Accreditation Commission, the Greater Boston Campus Police Criminal Information Exchange, the Massachusetts Police Training Officers Association, and the New England Campus Fire Safety Officers Association.

Security Awareness and Crime Prevention Programs

The Northeastern University Public Safety Division believes it is more beneficial to prevent crimes than to react to them after the fact. A primary vehicle for accomplishing this goal is the Division's comprehensive crime prevention program. This program is based upon the concepts of eliminating or minimizing criminal opportunities, whenever possible, and encouraging students and employees to be responsible for their own security and the security of others.

The following is a listing of the crime prevention programs and projects employed by Northeastern University:

1. Personal Safety Escort Program. . .provides personal safety escorts for:
 - A: persons walking on from one point on campus to another point on campus whenever personal safety is a concern.
 - B: persons traveling from the campus to their off-campus residence after dark, if within approximately one mile of the campus.

2. New Student Orientation...a crime prevention accompanied by brochures and other printed material is presented as a formal part of new student orientation during the summer and again at the start of the academic year.
3. Residence Hall Security...The Public Safety Division's Community Policing Teams work closely with the Department of Residential Life and the Residential Safety Office and promote safety in the residence halls through training and education of staff and residents.
4. Emergency Telephones...located throughout the campus.
5. Crime Prevention Presentations...specially trained officers present frequent crime awareness and prevention programs in residence halls and elsewhere on campus throughout the year. Programs are tailored to the particular interests of student, faculty, or staff groups.
6. New Employee Orientation...new employees are provided with campus safety and security information.
7. Rape Awareness, Education and Prevention...the Public Safety Division is a founding member of Northeastern's Campus Center for Violence Against Women and specially trained officers present programs dealing with domestic violence, rape, and sexual assault, including Rape Aggression Defense (RAD) self-defense classes for women.
8. Parking Facility Security...parking facilities are staffed by trained parking facility employees and/or security officers and are regularly patrolled by University police; emergency phones and CCTV augment security and lighting is well maintained.
9. Security Alarm Systems...a sophisticated computer-enhanced alarm system monitors a campus-wide network of intrusion, fire and duress alarms.
10. Architectural Design...technical and crime prevention specialists of the Public Safety Division work closely with design engineers regarding physical security systems and fire safety equipment when new construction or major renovations are planned on campus.
11. Security Surveys...comprehensive physical and operational security surveys are frequently conducted by the Division's Crime Prevention Officers to assist members of the University Community to improve the security of their work places and personal belongings.
12. Facilities Surveys...a comprehensive program designed to identify and correct deficiencies in exterior lighting, locking hardware and safety of the grounds is conducted by the Division's offices on an ongoing basis.
13. Operation Identification...Operation Identification, the national program of engraving serial numbers or owner-recognized numbers on computers, bicycles and other valuable items, is coordinated by the Division's Crime Prevention Officers. Engravers are made available to members of the University community free of charge.
14. Crime Prevention Announcements...articles and information are regularly provided to The Huntington News and distributed to students and staff via the Division's campus-wide SafeNet email network.
15. Printed Crime Prevention Materials...brochures, posters and bookmarks carrying crime prevention and awareness information related to residence hall safety and security, domestic violence, sexual assault, bicycle security, the escort service, employee security, motor vehicle security and library security are widely distributed at crime prevention presentations and at various locations throughout the campus.
16. Community Police Team...working closely with residential life staff, student leaders and employee groups, University Police Officers and Community Service Officers address safety and security issues on campus. Special emphasis is given to maintenance of campus lighting and emergency telephones, directed patrols of potential trouble spots, and facilitating the exchange of ideas and information designed to minimize crime and disorder, especially in the residence hall communities.

Crime Reporting

Numerous efforts are made to advise members of the campus community on a timely basis about campus crime and crime-related problems. These efforts include the following:

1. Annual Reports...This Safety and Security Information Report is published annually and widely distributed throughout the University community and is available to the media and any individual or organization requesting a copy. Northeastern also participates in the FBI's Uniform Crime Reporting Program, providing monthly reports of crimes reported on campus for inclusion in the annual publication of the U.S. Department of Justice entitled Crime in the United States.
2. Student Newspaper...The Huntington News publishes a weekly report of criminal incidents. Special articles concerning security issues also appear frequently.
3. Public Log...a chronological record of all crimes, fires and other significant Public Safety incidents reported to University Police, as well as the names of all persons arrested, is maintained at Public Safety Division Headquarters and is available for viewing during regular office hours.
4. Special and Emergency Alerts...The Huntington News features a weekly Crime Log providing details of crimes reported on and near the campus. SafeNet, a Public Safety Division program, distributes regular notices on crime trends and crime prevention suggestions to all users of the University email system. A campus emergency alert system utilizing telephone, email and text messaging is used to notify students and employees of weather emergencies and on confirmation of a significant emergency or dangerous situation on campus involving an immediate threat to the health or safety of students and staff. Students and employees are reminded to keep their personal telephone numbers, email address and text messaging information updated on the MyNEU portal to ensue receipt of emergency messages. One or more of these methods is used whenever the Director of Public Safety determines that a situation exists, which constitutes an ongoing and continuing threat to members of the campus community.

Fire Safety

The Division's Fire Safety Unit administers an aggressive program of regular inspection, testing and maintenance of University premises to ensure compliance with applicable fire and life safety codes and standards, conducting regular egress drills and providing a variety of educational and training programs in fire safety and prevention techniques for students, faculty and staff. All residents halls meet or exceed local and national fire safety codes and are equipped modern fire alarm systems including smoke detectors and sprinkler systems.

Emergency Medical Services

The Public Safety Division operates a fully equipped Class I ambulance. The service is provided by University Police Officers and Community Service Officers who are trained and certified Emergency Medical Technicians. Sick or injured patients are transported either to the University's on-campus Health Center or to a nearby hospital. Many officers are certified cardiopulmonary resuscitation instructors who regularly present classes in CPR to student and employee groups.

Drug and Alcohol Policies

Northeastern's drug and alcohol policies are as follows:

On University premises or at University sponsored activities, the following acts are prohibited:

1. Distribution, possession or use of any illegal drug or controlled substance without legal authorization;
2. Providing alcoholic beverages to individuals under 21 years of age, or possession of alcoholic beverages by individuals under 21 years of age; or
3. Possession of an open container of an alcoholic beverage in a public place without the express permission of the owner, public intoxication, driving while intoxicated, and drinking alcoholic beverages in an unlicensed public place.

In addition to imposition of disciplinary sanctions under University procedures, including suspension or separation from the University for such acts, students and employees may face prosecution and imprisonment under Federal and Massachusetts laws which make such acts criminal offenses.

Northeastern University works to provide a drug-free workplace for all University employees and students. University Health and Counseling Services and Human Resources Management provide resources for treatment and referral for students and employees with substance abuse problems. Educational programs for students, employees and managers are presented through UHCS, HRM and the Office for Student Affairs and cover the dangers of alcohol and drug abuse, the availability of assistance for counseling and rehabilitation, and penalties for violating University policies.

More information and a complete description of the University's drug and alcohol abuse policies, educational programs and sanctions may be found in the Undergraduate Student Handbook, on the website for the Office of Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution at www.osccr.neu.edu/code and on the web site for University Health and Counseling Services at www.uhcs.neu.edu/healthservices/alcohol.html.

Sexual Assault Awareness Programs and Policies

The Public Safety Division works closely with the Office of Student Affairs, Residential Life, University Health and Counseling Services, the Student Government Association and Northeastern's Campus Center for Violence Against Women to promote awareness and provides services regarding domestic violence, rape, and sexual assault.

Nearly all of the sexual assaults reported to the University Police are committed by acquaintances. Victims of sexual assault are urged to report the incident to the University Police as soon as possible, regardless of where the offense took place, whether or not the offender is known to the victim. University policy dictates that University officials who are informed of a sexual assault in their official capacity as University employees urge the victim to make a report to the University Police or other off-campus law enforcement authorities. University Police work closely with the victim to ensure that the appropriate medical care and counseling is made available and will assist the victim in notifying the appropriate off-campus law enforcement authorities if applicable.

Victims of sexual assaults are not required to file formal criminal charges, even if they report the incident to the University Police. A University Police investigator, specially trained in dealing with victims of sexual assault, will present the victim with a full range of options and services available so the victim can choose the most appropriate course of action. Among the options available to a student victim of sexual assault are such things as on- or off-campus counseling and mental health services, immediate relocation to a different residence facility if the victim resides in University housing, and changes in the victim's academic class schedule if the victim wishes and if such a change is reasonably available.

Students accused of sexual assault are subject to disciplinary action in accordance with the provisions of the Code of Student Conduct as contained in the official Student Handbook, whether or not formal criminal charges are filed by the victim. Both the accuser and the accused are entitled to the same opportunities to have others present during University disciplinary proceedings, and both are informed of the outcome. A student found to have committed a sexual assault in violation of the Code of Student Conduct is subject to disciplinary action up to and including suspension or expulsion from the University.

In keeping with the federal Campus Sex Crimes Prevention Act, the Public Safety Division maintains records provided by the Massachusetts Sex Offender Registry Board of registered sex offenders who have indicated that they are employed or enrolled at Northeastern University. Any member of the University community who wishes to review these records should contact the Associate Director of Public Safety during normal business hours. For further information concerning the crimes for which convicted offenders must register, or regarding additional access to records of registered sex offenders, contact the Massachusetts Sex Offender Registry Board by telephone at 978.740.6400 or via the Internet at www.state.ma.us/sorb/.

Emergency Notification Systems and Procedures

In the event of a serious incident which poses an immediate threat to members of the Northeastern University community, the University has various systems in place for communicating information quickly to those individuals. Upon confirmation of a significant emergency or dangerous situation involving an immediate threat to the health or safety of the students or employees occurring on campus, some or all of these methods of communication may be activated. These methods of communications may include activating NU ALERT, an emergency notification system utilizing email, text messaging and telephone voice messaging; messages displayed on electronic message boards on campus; or messages on the home page of Northeastern's website. Phone numbers and email addresses of parents or other persons identified by students or employees in official University registrar or employee records as emergency contact persons will be included in the NU ALERT system and they may receive emergency messages as well. The University will also post updates during a critical incident on the Northeastern University home page at www.northeastern.edu.

Serious threats of this nature may involve weather, health or personal safety situations. Based on the nature of the emergency the responsibility for assessing the severity of the threat begins with the senior staff of the University Health and Counseling Center, Facilities Department, Office of Environmental Health and Safety or Public Safety Division. Upon a determination by UHCS, Facilities or OEHS that a significant threat exists the senior staff of the appropriate department will immediately inform the University Crisis Management Team, who will promptly make a decision regarding emergency notification. Staff from the Office of the Vice President for Marketing and Communications will generally have the responsibility for preparing and disseminating emergency messages and updates. In the event of confirmation of a threat involving imminent risk to personal safety the senior staff of the Public Safety Division may activate NU ALERT immediately, prior to notifying the Crisis Management Team.

Many factors are considered when assessing a situation to determine whether to activate one or more of the emergency communications systems and if so, the content of the message and whether to send the emergency message to all or some of the campus community. Among the factors to be considered is the nature and anticipated duration of the emergency situation and whether the emergency applies to a particular building or segment of the population or to the entire campus. The Crisis Management Team or Director of Public Safety will make a decision without delay, taking into account the safety of the community, determine the content of the notification and initiate the notification system, unless issuing a notification will, in the professional judgement of responsible authorities, compromise efforts to assist a victim or to contain, respond to, or otherwise mitigate the emergency.

The University Crisis Management Team plans, publicizes and conducts a test of the emergency response and notification system at least annually and maintains a record documenting each test, including a description of the exercise, the date, time and whether it was announced or unannounced.

Procedures for Missing Students Residing on Campus

If a member of the University community has reason to believe that a student who resides in on-campus housing is missing the Northeastern University Police should be contacted immediately at 617.373.2121. NUPD will generate an incident report and initiate an investigation in order to attempt to locate the missing student. NUPD has a detailed and specific protocol for conducting missing persons investigations, utilizing a wide range of electronic resources as well as making personal contact with friends, classmates, co-workers and relatives.

If NUPD determines that a student is missing and has been missing for more than 24 hours the Boston Police Department, the police department of the community where the missing student maintains a home of record, and the person designated as the student's emergency contact will be notified no later than 24 hours after the student is determined to have been missing for 24 hours, and if the missing student is under the age of 21 a missing person notice will be posted on the national police information network. If the missing student is under the age of 18 and is not an emancipated individual, Northeastern will notify the student's parent or legal guardian immediately after NUPD has determined that the student has been missing for more than 24 hours.

In addition to registering the name of a person as an emergency contact, students residing in on-campus housing have the option to identify confidentially an individual to be contacted by Northeastern in the event the student is determined to be missing for more than 24 hours. If a student has identified such an individual, Northeastern will notify that individual no later than 24 hours after the student is determined to have been missing for 24 hours. Students who wish to identify a confidential contact for this purpose can do so through the Office of Residential Life.

Fire Safety in On-Campus Residence Halls

Fire alarm and suppression systems:

All on-campus residence halls are equipped with fire alarm and sprinkler systems which meet and in many cases exceed state and local building and fire safety codes. The fire alarm systems in all on-campus residence facilities consist of horns and strobe lights alerting residents to an alarm and are also remotely monitored at the Public Safety Division Police Operations Center via the university's computer-enhanced campus-wide alarm monitoring system. On-campus residence halls are also equipped with fire-rated smoke/fire doors designed to impede the spread of smoke and fire. Regular and frequent inspections are conducted by Public Safety, Residential Life and Facilities staff who report fire hazards in residence halls and facilitate prompt resolution. Hi-rise residence halls are also equipped with smoke-control and reduction mechanisms designed to further minimize the spread of smoke and fire. Upon receipt of a fire alarm, Northeastern Public Safety staff are immediately dispatched and the Boston Fire Department is notified. Northeastern's on-campus housing consists of a variety of configurations, including traditional dormitory-style buildings, former apartment buildings acquired and renovated by the University, and newly-constructed apartment style and suite style facilities. Each facility is equipped with the fire and life safety systems required by the building codes. More extensive fire sprinkler systems than required by building codes have been installed in older facilities. Fire safety equipment is reviewed regularly to identify locations where enhancements such as additional sprinkler and smoke detection systems beyond those required by building codes are appropriate and plans for such enhancements are integrated into the university's annual facilities maintenance project plan. For a detailed explanation of the specific fire alarm and suppression systems in any of Northeastern's on-campus residence facilities contact the Associate Director of Public Safety or the University Fire Safety Officer at 617.373.2696.

Policies on Rules for electrical appliances, smoking and open flames:

Only a limited number of appliances approved by Underwriters Laboratories are permitted within the Residential Life system. Prohibited personal items include: plastic milk crates and stackable storage containers that are not fire resistant, non-metal waste baskets, candles, incense, halogen lamps, sun lamps, immersion heaters, and space heaters. Certain additional cooking appliances are prohibited in traditional dormitory-style rooms but may be permitted in the apartment style facilities. Residents are reminded to use extension cords only if they bear the UL label, never to run cords under rugs or across doorways, and to use cords appropriately designed for the electrical load. For a detailed list of approved appliances for each facility and policy statements please refer to A Guide to Residence Hall Living.

Fire Safety Training and Evacuation Plans for Residence Hall Staff and Residents:

The Public Safety Division provides training for all new Residence Assistants during the annual RA training just prior to the beginning of the academic year. A PowerPoint program entitled Campus Orientation for Public Safety for RA's serves as the outline for this training and is posted to the Blackboard application of the Department of Residence Life as a resource for the student and professional staff of the Department throughout the year. This training includes instructions that all residents and staff are to evacuate immediately upon activation of any fire alarm.

The University Fire Safety Officer regularly reviews evacuation plans for all on-campus residence halls and provides the Director of Residential Life with updated evacuation plans for each on-campus residence hall annually. These plans are distributed to Residential Life staff who discusses the plans with residents. Fire egress drills are scheduled at least once each semester and include guidance from Public Safety staff and Residence Life staff so evacuating residents knows where to safely assemble once outside the building. Residents in on-campus housing are also provided with a variety of informational fire safety literature during the fall semester as periodic reminders of practicing sound fire safety principles. Among the specific information distributed are brochures entitled "What You Should Know - Fire Safety in Northeastern University Residence Halls" and "Evacuation Guidelines for Deaf and Disabled Individuals."

Fires in On-Campus Residential Facilities:

Receipt of fire alarms by the university's automatic alarm system or by persons who report the presence of smoke result in an immediate response by Public Safety staff to investigate the cause of the alarm. In the case of an actual fire an incident report is generated and a detailed record of the fire is maintained. A record of all fires in on-campus residence hall facilities is also included in the public log of crimes and other incidents maintained by the Public Safety Division, which is available for public viewing during normal business hours. Federal law requires that staff who discovers evidence of a past fire which was extinguished before a fire alarm was activated must report their observations to the University Police. Such reports also result in an investigation and an entry being made in the public log.

During the three-year reporting period covered by this report there were two reported fires in on-campus residence halls. In February, 2008, an automatic smoke detector alarm was violated in the basement laundry room of an on-campus residence hall apartment building. The smoke detector violation caused the fire alarm horns and strobe lights throughout the building to activate and an alarm signal was simultaneously transmitted to the NUPD Police Operations Center. NUPD officers and the Boston Fire Department were immediately dispatched and residents began to evacuate. BFD located a plastic and wooden laundry basket in flames in the laundry room and extinguished it. There were no injuries and there was no damage to the building or other contents. The Fire Department discovered the remnants of a cigarette in the laundry basket and listed the cause of the fire as careless disposal of the cigarette. The person responsible was not identified. In the other incident a resident of an on-campus apartment returned from grocery shopping and placed the bags on the stove top, forgetting a burner was turned on, resulting in a bag of flour catching fire. The resident extinguished the fire, but not before the smoke set off a smoke detector, sounding the alarm throughout the building and resulting in the evacuation of residents and a response by Public Safety and the Boston Fire Department. There were no injuries and no damage other than the bag of flour.

There were also two fires reported in apartments leased to Northeastern students in privately owned and controlled buildings near the campus which also house some students in apartments sub-leased through the university. In both of these fires the fires were in privately-leased apartments and were caused by faulty electrical appliances, one a coffee maker and one a micro fridge. There were no injuries in either fire although there was smoke and water damage to some of the contents.

Northeastern University believes that an informed community is a more safety conscious community. The following statistics are provided in accordance with the federal Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act which calls for publication of certain crime statistics for the previous three years. If you have any questions regarding these statistics, or if you would like more information about other security-related incidents, services or policies, please contact the Director of Public Safety.

Note 1: Public Property is defined as the public streets, sidewalks, other thoroughfares or parking facilities adjacent to university facilities. For the purpose of this report, incidents have been included which were reported by city police agencies to have occurred on public property within the area bounded by Columbus Avenue to the south, Ruggles Street to the west, The Fenway to the north, and Westland Avenue/Massachusetts Avenue to the east.

Note 2: The term Non-Campus Building or Property means any building or property owned or controlled by a student organization recognized by the University or any building or property owned or controlled by the University and used in direct support of educational purposes, is frequented by students, but is not in the same reasonably contiguous geographic area of the main campus.

Note 3: Bias-Motivated Incidents: In 2007 there was one incident of non-aggravated assault without injury on public property which was motivated by racial bias, seven reported incidents of offensive graffiti regarding race, religion or sexual orientation, most of which were in residence halls, and one incident of verbal intimidation of a residence hall proctor based on race. In 2008 there was one reported incident of vandalism in which offensive statements motivated by racial and religious bias were written on a residence hall room door and five reported incidents of intimidation in which students received harassing messages on Facebook or on their room message boards which were motivated by racial, religious or sexual orientation bias.

Note 4: The statistics were compiled by first producing reports from case files of the University Police Department. Other university departments and individuals with significant responsibility for student and campus activities were then provided with reporting forms to be submitted to the Public Safety Division for compilation. Finally, local and state police agencies were asked to provide statistics for applicable incidents on public property and non-campus property. All records were then analyzed to eliminate duplication.

Note 5: Rape/Sexual Assault statistics include third party and anonymous reports.

Note 6: Most of the Burglary incidents involved unforced entry into unlocked and/or unattended rooms or offices.
