

The Penn State Action Club

Interactive Seminars in Motor Control and Coordination

Starting Time: Fridays, 3.30 p.m.

Meeting Place: Water Tower 3rd floor

Organized by: Dagmar Sternad and Mark Latash

List of Speakers in Fall 2004:

September 10 Mark Latash (Penn State)

September 24 Hermann Müller (Univ of Saarbrücken)

October 15 Jae Kun Shim (Penn State)

October 29 Mary Klein-Breteler (Nijmegen, Netherlands)

November 5 David Ostry (McGill University)

November 19 Neville Hogan (MIT)

December 3 Daniel Bullock (Boston University)

The seminar will provide a forum for indepth discussions of issues on motor control and coordination. It is interdisciplinary in nature, perspectives ranging from biomechanics, neurophysiology, psychology to philosophy. The sessions are aimed to be informal and highly interactive with no preset time limits. Speakers will have 10 minutes of uninterrupted presenting time. Thereafter, they may and should be interrupted whenever questions arise. After the meeting there will be a gathering in honor of the speaker where food and drink is provided. Graduate students are encouraged to attend and to participate.