

The Penn State Action Club

Interactive Seminars in Motor Control and Coordination

Starting Time: Fridays, 3.30 - 5.00 p.m.

Meeting Place: 127 Noll Lab

Organized by: Dagmar Sternad and Mark Latash

List of Speakers in Fall 2005:

September 16 Amanda Dawson (Penn State)

September 30 Devin McAuley (Bowling Green State University)

October 14 Leonardo Cohen (NIH)

October 28 Mark Latash (Penn State)

November 11 Steve Piazza (Penn State)

December 2 Tim Cope (Wright State University)

December 9 Joseph Hidler* (Catholic University, Washington)

The seminar will provide a forum for indepth discussions of issues on motor control and coordination. It is interdisciplinary in nature, perspectives ranging from biomechanics, neurophysiology, psychology to philosophy. The sessions are aimed to be informal and highly interactive with no preset time limits. Speakers will have 10 minutes of uninterrupted presenting time. Thereafter, they may and should be interrupted whenever questions arise.

After the meeting there will be a gathering in honor of the speaker where food and drink is provided. Graduate students are encouraged to attend and to participate.

* This speaker will also give a talk at the departmental colloquium on the Thursday before Action Club.