Taxpayer Conscience & Health Care Reform

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 28, 2011

Sylvia Law is the Elizabeth K. Dollard Professor of Law, Medicine and Psychiatry at New York University School of Law and co-director of the Arthur Garfield Hays Civil Liberties Program. Professor Law is renowned for her work on reproductive rights, including acting as plaintiffs’ counsel in two Supreme Court decisions determining the status of public funding of abortions — Maher v. Roe (1977) and Harris v. McRae (1980). Her co-authored chapter in Women and the Law Stories chronicles these cases. Professor Law has also written extensively on health policy and law, including books and articles on the US health care system, medical malpractice and sex discrimination in health insurance.

Launched in 2011, the interdisciplinary Program on Health Policy and Law brings together faculty and students from across Northeastern University to explore and address issues related to public health law, health and human rights, health governance, intellectual property, bioethics, health care delivery law, and the regulation of our health care systems.
