This practical panel discussion will focus on the challenges facing software developers, both small and large, after the US Supreme Court’s decision in Alice Corp. v. CLS Bank International. The entire spectrum of intellectual property protection available for software will be addressed. Not only will the panel address the current state of patent protection for software and where it is headed, but we will also learn about ways to leverage copyright, trade secrets and licensing restrictions to protect software. This event is ideal for anyone interested in learning more about the options available for IP protection for software.

PANELISTS:
- Robert Plotkin, Blueshift IP
- Richard Green, McCarter & English
- Eric Osterberg, Osterberg LLC

Light refreshments will be served. Questions? Email: asilverstein@sandsip.com
