Introduction

The Graduating Senior Employment survey is designed to obtain information from graduating seniors regarding their post-graduation plans. Graduating full-time undergraduate students are asked various questions related to employment and graduate school. Currently in its eleventh year, this survey provides insight regarding the initial plans of recent graduates. Trend data from the survey are useful in examining patterns of employment and graduate school plans of new graduates.

This survey, as in most previous years (2006 exception), used paper questionnaires that were completed at the time of commencement ticket pickup. Of approximately 2,065 full-time graduating seniors, 1,823 completed the survey yielding an estimated response rate of 88.3%.

Summary of Findings

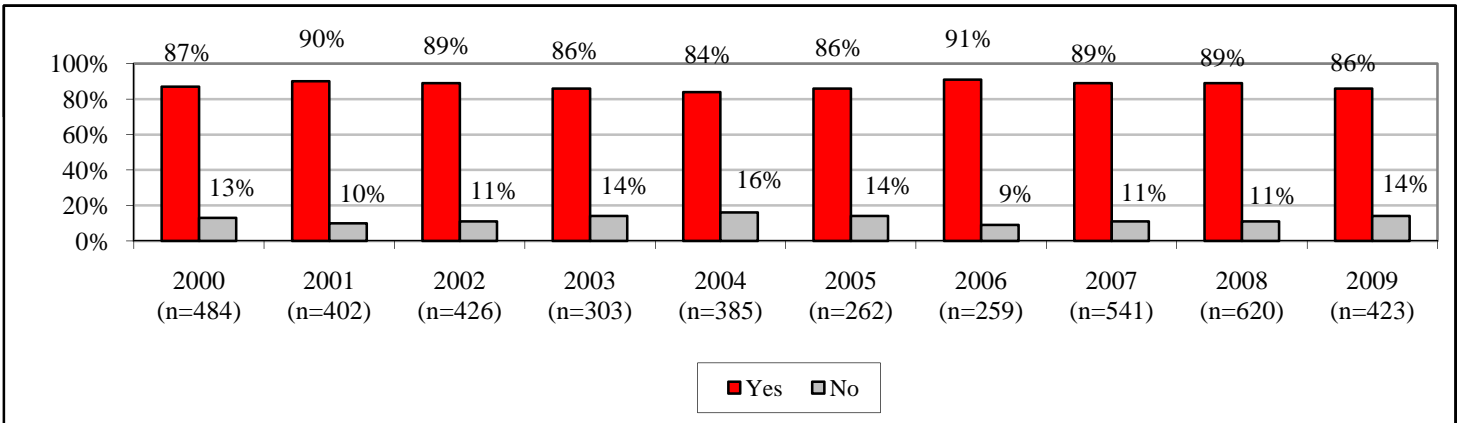

- Twenty-four percent (24%) of graduates report having secured full-time employment at or before their graduation. This figure represents a decrease from last year's data (34%).
- Eighty-six percent (86%) of students who have secured full-time employment indicate that this job is related to their field of study. This percentage is slightly less than last year (89%).
- Fifty-three percent (53%) of students who have secured a full-time job (and participated in Co-op) indicate that their job is with a former Co-op employer. This percentage is slightly lower than last year (57%), which was the highest in five years.
- The mean starting salary for 2009 graduates who indicated they had secured full-time employment is $56,768 and the median is $52,000. The mean represents a 6.7% increase over starting salaries obtained by the graduates in the Class of 2008 ($53,180), however the median dropped from $53,000 to $52,000 in 2009.
- Among those students who participated in Co-op, 38% reported having received at least one full-time job offer from a former Co-op employer. This is an eighteen point drop from last year and is the lowest percentage reported since 2003 and most likely an indication of current economic conditions.
- Eighteen percent (18%) of graduating seniors indicated they are planning on attending graduate school in the fall of 2009, and 85% of them are anticipating doing so on a full-time basis.
