

Academics

The Center for Student Academic Services is a resource center for students in the Colleges of Arts, Media, and Design as well as Social Sciences and Humanities. It is dedicated to student academic success.

Academic Advising: There are seven professional staff members that work in the Center for Academic Services. Each having their own specific function within the department, they cover a range of information from academic coordination, to tutoring, to general studies.

How to declare or change a major or minor: This Frequently Asked Questions page covers a range of topics from making appointments with staff to internship information. One benefit of the FAQ's is learning how to declare a major or minor.

Double Majors, Second Bachelor's Degrees, Combined Majors,

Independent Majors: Double majors, combined programs, and individualized curricula require specific scheduling and extra resources. This page on the University Registrar website gives background information on each of these and explains the process of choosing this path.

The MyNEU Academic Guide: This guide is an all-inclusive page to any support needed on the Northeastern Campus. It gives you links to help you thrive academically as well as personally.

Study Tips & Strategies: Everyone learns and achieves differently and this resource guide helps to create information for any style or hardship someone has. From time management and organization to writing styles and grammar help, the study tips and strategies page is a resource for all.

Program for Undeclared Students: an entire set of resources is devoted to students who haven't declared majors. This website provides resources that are available to students such as experiential learning opportunities, co-operative education and tutoring services that point students in the right direction.

Plagiarism – what counts & how to avoid it: Academic Integrity is a value that students at Northeastern University are expected to uphold. The Office of Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution provides information regarding plagiarism policy and sanctions as well as tips on how to avoid plagiarism or cheating.

Tutoring Services: Tutoring services on Northeastern University's campus helps students in a number of ways. This site directs students to the different types of tutoring sessions available and provides students with contact information and forms to start the tutoring process.

How to become a tutor: Students have the ability to be peer tutors to other students. This subset of Tutoring services has links to the qualifications needed to become a tutor as well as the training and application processes. Click here to gain more information.

Library Information: The University Libraries are available to Northeastern University students both in the buildings as well as online. This link brings you to the main University Libraries page where the main search engine, hour and contact information, and reservations are available to all.

