Every year, the School of Law faculty hosts a colloquium series to foster rigorous intellectual exchange. These enlightening and engaging conversations serve as the launching pad for articles and conferences as well as classroom discussions.

Faculty Colloquia 2007-2008

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 4, 2007
Professor Beth Thornburg
Southern Methodist University Dedman School of Law
Continuity and Change at the Boundaries of Law and Culture: Lessons from the Lawtalk Project
COMMENT: PROFESSOR STEPHEN SUBRIN

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 23, 2007
Visiting Associate Professor Keith Fisher
Northeastern University School of Law
Reclaiming the Tenth Amendment for Consumer Protection
COMMENT: PROFESSOR PETER ENRICH

TUESDAY, JANUARY 22, 2008
Elizabeth Wilson
Attorney, Washington, DC
Is Torture All in a Day’s Work?
Scope of Employment, the Absolute Immunity Doctrine and Civil Torture Litigation Against US Federal Officials
COMMENT: PROFESSOR DANIEL GIVELBER

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 2008
Junior Fellow Katerina Linos
Harvard University Society of Fellows
International Law and Social Policy Reform
COMMENT: PROFESSOR MARTHA DAVIS

THURSDAY, MARCH 13, 2008
Professor Katherine Franke
Columbia Law School
Longing for Loving
COMMENT: ROYALL PROFESSOR JANET HALLEY, HARVARD LAW SCHOOL

THURSDAY, APRIL 3, 2008
Visiting Professor Sharon Dolovich
Harvard Law School
Defining Eighth Amendment Deliberate Indifference
COMMENT: PROFESSOR MICHAEL MELTSNER

THURSDAY, MAY 1, 2008
Klein Professor Randall Kennedy
Harvard Law School
Sellout: The Politics of Racial Betrayal
COMMENT: PROFESSOR HOPE LEWIS
Listen to this!