Democracy & Development in North Africa & the Mediterranean

Professor Peter Fraunholtz
INTL 3250 CRN: 34328
WHEN: M & W 2:50pm-4:30pm

DESCRIPTION:
As the birthplace of the Arab Spring, North Africa holds a critically important place in recent efforts to understand the complex forces shaping the future of the Middle East and North Africa region (MENA). Algeria, Morocco, and Tunisia form a distinct geo-cultural unit within MENA, sharing a common experience of French colonialism, post-colonial state-building, the challenges of economic development, complex European relations and thriving civil societies, including strong women’s rights movements.

Fulfills: Regional - Middle East or Elective