What is the Experiential Network?
The Experiential Network (XN) is an initiative by Northeastern University in which graduate students work with sponsoring organizations on short-term, virtual projects. This enables students to put theory into practice and address real business needs for a sponsoring organization. Whether you are looking to start your career, advance your career, or change careers, the XN is right for you.

Benefits for XN Students
- Expand your professional network and boost your confidence in the workplace
- Receive support from a professional sponsor and Northeastern faculty to improve your professional development
- Obtain real world experience in your academic discipline
- Projects of varying levels depending on your work experience and professional goals

Project Details
Project work is completed remotely (i.e. via email, phone, video-conference) over a six-week period. Students spend approximately five hours per week working on their project. Projects are typically research-based and conclude with an actionable deliverable that provides insight and recommendations to inform critical business decisions.

How it Works
- Application Submission & Review
- Student Matched w/ Project
- Project Kick-Off & Execution
- Ongoing Feedback
- Student Submits Final Project
