

Personal Statement

As a graduate student at Northeastern University, I have been dedicated to advocating for the interests of my fellow students. My experience as a senator for GSG, particularly in the Programs and Operations committee, has allowed me to work on various initiatives that have positively impacted the graduate student community. Through events such as "Passionate Paws of the Huskies", I have contributed to GSG and have learnt a lot about different aspects in detail. Organizing an event is not an easy task and there are a lot of minute details that need focus in order to make an event successful.

Running for Vice President of Program and Operations, my primary goal is to build on this work and enhance the graduate student experience. Specifically, I am passionate about addressing important issues such as on-campus employment and co-op opportunities, and I plan to organize workshops and networking events to help students navigate these processes. I am also eager to explore the possibility of creating a committee similar to SSG (Student Success Guide) for graduate students that can provide guidance and support as they adjust to the new educational environment and culture.

An additional initiative that I am excited to pursue as Vice President of GSG is the implementation of CampusTalk events tailored to each college. This platform will provide graduate students from each college with an opportunity to voice their concerns, share their feedback, and discuss how GSG can better support them. By organizing CampusTalk events, I aim to create a more inclusive and collaborative environment where every graduate student's voice is heard and their concerns are addressed. I believe that this initiative will foster stronger engagement and communication between GSG and graduate students from all colleges, leading to more effective solutions and improvements to their overall experience at Northeastern University.

I aim to foster collaborations and partnerships with other student organizations, university departments, and external partners. By working together, we can create joint initiatives, events, and opportunities that directly benefit graduate students and enhance their academic and professional experiences at Northeastern University. Through these initiatives, I am committed to empowering graduate students and creating a supportive community that facilitates their success.

My driving force behind applying for this position is my passion for management and event planning. I love learning something new every day and the thought of working with a diverse group of people to create and manage impactful events excites me. Ultimately, I am committed to creating a welcoming and inclusive community for all graduate students at Northeastern, and I am enthusiastic about the opportunity to contribute to this work as Vice President of Program and Operations in GSG.
