Student Presenter

ANDREA ANACKER

Andrea is a second year Political Science and International Affairs major with a minor in Law and Public Policy. She's from Tenafly, New Jersey, a small suburb of New York City. Andrea speaks three languages: English, Hungarian, and Spanish. Passionate about experiencing new cultures and languages, after her freshman year, she went abroad on a Dialogue of Civilizations to Tokyo. Andrea is commonly identified as the "loud one" in most group settings and is proud of that title. She can usually be found working out in Marino or basking in the sun on Centennial... regardless of the weather.
